INTERESTING FACTS

About a Poor Boy Who Became Wealthy and Honored.

There was, many years ago, a lad of sixteen, who left home to seek his fortune. All his worldly possessions were tied up in a bundle, which he carried in his hand. As he trudged along he met an old neighbor, the captain of a canal-boat; and the following conversation took place, which changed the whole current of the boy's life:

"Well, William, where are you going?"

"I don't know," he answered. "Father is too poor to keep me at home any longer, and says I must now make a living for myself."

William then told his friend that the only trade he knew anything about was soap and candle-making, at which he helped his father while at home.

"Well," said the old man, "let me pray with you and give you a little advice, and then I will let you go."

They both knelt upon the tow-path (the path along which the horses that drew the canal-boat walked). The old man prayed earnestly for William, and then this advice was given: "Some one will soon be the leading soapmaker in New York. I can be you as well as any one. It may be he. As a good man, give your heart to Christ, give the Lord all that belongs to him of every dollar you earn, make an honest soap, give a full pound, and I am certain you will be a great, good and rich man."

When the boy arrived in the city he found it hard to get home. Lonesome and far from work, he remembered his mother's words, and the last words of the canal-boat captain. He was then and there to "seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness." He united with the church. He remembered his promise to the old captain. The first dollar he earned brought up the question of the Lord's part. He looked into the Bible, and found the Jews were commanded to give one-tenth. So he said, "If the Lord will take that, I will give that," and he did. Ten cents of every dollar was sacred to the Lord.

After a few years both partners died and William came to be the sole owner of the business. He now resolved to keep his promise to the captain. He made an honest soap, gave a full pound, and instructed his book-keeper to open an account with the Lord, and carry one-tenth of all his income to that account. He was prosperous. His business grew, his family was blessed his soap sold, and he grew rich faster than he ever hoped. He then decided to give the Lord two tenths, and he prospered more than ever. Then he gave four tenths, then six tenths. He then educated his family, settled all his plans for life, and the Lord he would give him his income. He prospered more than ever.

This is the true story of Mr. Colgate, who has given millions of dollars to the Lord's cause, and left a name that will never die.

Are there not boys and girls that will now begin to give to the Lord one-tenth of the money they receive, and continue to do so through life?—Morning Star.

Don't be deceived or humbugged by people who claim the discovery of some hitherto unknown herb or root in swamps, or on some mountain of prairie, for the cure of kidney and bladder troubles. Any doctor or druggist will tell you that such claims are fraudulent. Foley's Kidney Cure simply contains remedies that are recognized by the most skillful physicians as the best for these complaints, and don't be credulous or foolish.

Things That Mar Home Happiness.

The intercourse of many homes is marred and spoiled by exhibitions of a thoughtless spirit. Family life should be a blending of all the tastes, dispositions, talents, gifts and resources of all the members of the household. In each one there should be self-restraint. No member may live in a home circle as if he were dwelling alone in a great house with only himself to consider. He must repress much in himself for the sake of the other members. He must do many things which he might not do if he were alone, because he is a member of a little community whose happiness and good he is to seek at every point. No household life can ever be made truly ideal by all having their own way. But many persons who are tied up in family life forget this. They expect to live as regardless of others as if they were living alone. They consider no one's comfort, peace or pleasure but their own. They let their own impulses have full and free expression. They make no effort to repress any elements or dispositions in themselves which tend to give pain to others. They demand all their rights, not remembering that the other members of the family have rights, too, and that home happiness can be secured only by the mutual surrender of rights, each in honor, preferences, each seeking not to be ministered unto, but to minister.—Christian Work.

In late years men have made fortunes out of the tailings of gold mines. The mills in which the ore formerly was crushed and the crude processes then in use allowed a large percentage of the precious metal to escape, and that loss amounted in some cases to a fortune. The stomach is just like a stamp mill in this respect, that when it is not in perfect order it allows the escape and waste of much of the precious nutriment contained in the food. That loss when continuous means the loss of man's greatest fortune—health. Science offers a remedy for this condition in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It corrects the "weakness" of the stomach, prevents waste and loss of nourishment, and puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition into a condition of health which enables them to save and assimilate all the nutriment contained in the food which is eaten. In all cases of constipation the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will speedily and permanently cure the disease.

A Compromise.
The Agricultural, Bourbon, Citizens and Deposit Banks compromised the back-taxes claims with the city of Paris. The claims were for years 1804, 1807 and 1808, and were paid with 6 per cent. interest and 5 per cent. added, the latter being one-half of the penalty. The banks paid a total of $29,412.29, divided as follows: Agricultural, $19,208.23; Bourbon, $7,395.04; Citizens, $5,829.82; Deposit, $5,979.17.—Paris Kentuckian.

Old Time Fiddler's Contest.
"Did you ever hear a fiddler fiddle?" And do you play the fiddle? The old time fiddle has been pushed to the wall long enough. The ladies of the Mt. Sterling Auxiliary of the C. W. B. M. will have an old time fiddler's contest sometime in November. Three prizes in gold coin—first, second and third will be awarded by competent judges. Any one who wishes to play in the contest will please write Mrs. W. H. Strossman, Mt. Sterling, Ky.

Ladies of Christian Church will have a Thanksgiving-Exchange.

A Man of Promise.

To the Editor of the Mt. Sterling Advocate: On the day before the valiant Wolfe lost his life on the Plains of Abraham he remarked to some comrades that he would write the author of "The Elegy in a Country Churchyard" than to have the glory of defeating the French on the morrow. On Sunday morning, Nov. 18, at the Baptist church in this city, a young Virginian delivered one of the most eloquent sermons it has ever been my good fortune to hear. As I listened to this young Ambassador for Christ I thought I had rather deliver a message like that than to be the victor in the bloodiest battle ever fought. As a rule I like not to listen to young men preach, but here was a magnificent exception. As I sat charmed by that rich melodious voice uttering that glorious message so full of divine philosophy, methought here is one truly called to speak in the name of the glorious Nazarene. Go on, young man, in your glorious career. Kentucky will watch this son from the Old Dominion.

To California.

Parties contemplating a trip to California would find it to their interest to consider the advantages offered by "The True Southern Route" for both first and second class travel. Daily Pullman standard sleeper, St. Louis to El Paso and El Paso to Los Angeles and San Francisco. Through Pullman tourist sleeper, St. Louis to Los Angeles and San Francisco every Thursday night. It is exasperating to one who has used Foley's Honey and Tar and knows what it will do, to have a dealer recommend something else as "just the same" or "just as good." There is nothing "just as good" for colds, coughs, croup, grippe, etc.

Democratic Committee-men Who Serve Four Years.

On Monday of last week the following were elected Precinct Committee-men for the next four years:

First Ward, Geo. W. Baird; Second Ward, T. S. Johnson; Third Ward, W. T. Fitzpatrick; Fourth Ward, Jesse Hagline; Beans, Sam Turley; Smithville, J. R. Magowan; Spencer, I. D. Yocum; Aarons Run, Jesse Highland; Sideview, Will Eubank; Howards Mill, Traci Wells; Camargo, W. F. Horton; Haris, Henry L. Jones; Grassy Lick, Roy Greene; Levee, T. J. Douglass; Jeffersonville, Phil Hon.

Foully Dealt With.

Several days ago James Jones, aged about 55 years, formerly a well known blacksmith at Wyoming, Bath county, was found dead in bed at his home near Vanceburg, Lewis county. At the coroner's inquest the jury returned a verdict of death from an unknown cause. The deceased man's son, Sam T. Jones, of Torrent, became suspicious as to the cause of his father's death and went to Vanceburg to investigate. He had the body exhumed and a post-mortem examination revealed the fact that Mr. Jones had been foully dealt with.

All About Abraham.

A schoolboy was asked at an examination to give an account of the patriarch Abraham. He wrote: "He was the father of Lot, and had two wives. One was called Ishmael and the other Hager. He kept one at home and turned the other into the desert, where she became a pillar of salt in the daytime and a pillar of fire by night."—London Jewish World.

Goodloe Combs Pardoned.

In 1894 John Rose, of Powell county, started to Winchester Court but was murdered near his home. Goodloe Combs was tried for the crime and the evidence, though circumstantial, was convincing and he was sent up for life, going to the pen in June 1895. Gov. Beckham pardoned him.

Kentucky Educational Association.

The Kentucky Educational Association will hold its next meeting in the city of Louisville, Dec. 26, 27, 28, 1900. The K. E. A. represents all of the educational forces of the State, and should have the co-operation of the friends of education everywhere to make it a great, living, moving force. A strong program for the next meeting is being prepared, the leading school men and women of the State will be present, and the meeting will be an inspiration to all. Announcement of special railroad and hotel rates will be made later.

Interesting to Farmers.

Louisville packers say the advance in beef, pork and mutton at Chicago is not sufficient to effect retail prices.

The Armour Packing Company killed more cattle at its packing house at Kansas City, October 25, than were ever killed before in any packing house in the world in a single day, the total slaughtered being 3,249 cattle.

The tobacco warehouses are boycotting the farmers who use paris green on their tobacco. Some agents have been instructed not to advance any money on tobacco where paris green has been used.

W. L. Crutcher, one of Madison county's most prosperous farmers, says that during the last ravages of cholera he lost no hogs. Twice has his herd been attacked by the disease. His remedy is as follows: "Take a quantity of wild cherry bark, put into a large iron kettle with water and reduce to a very strong solution. For hogs not too sick to drink swill, give two table spoonfuls three times a day in their swill. For those too sick to drink, drench them with same amount, only repeat the dose oftener."

Many people worry because they believe they have heart disease. The chances are that their hearts are all right but their stomachs are unable to digest food. Kotol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and prevents the formation of gas which makes the stomach press against the heart. I will cure every form of indigestion. F. C. Duxson.

D. S. Evans, County Attorney of Harrison County, died at the Presbyterian Hospital, Cincinnati, on the 17th. Mr. Evans was operated upon on the Monday previous, but never rallied.

PROGRESS.
 Tools and machinery have been unloaded here preparatory to the construction of a water plant by the Mt. Sterling Water Company. This work will be begun and forced as rapidly as the weather will permit, and with a supply of water, such as will be provided, we look for better days. The supply of water for the fire department and home consumption will be of small consideration. The object in going to Slate Creek is in order to get an abundant supply of pure water. A supply so great that the company may be able to offer inducements to manufacturing enterprises. We may expect machine shops of magnitude, possibly a tannery, manufacture of boots and shoes, etc. In addition to a water plant the electric light plant will be modernized and the gas plant will be enlarged and gas will be manufactured for fuel. For all this work $25,000 is held in reserve. The company do not propose to stop at this, for it is within their scope to provide a day current of electricity and possibly an increased capital will be asked by which an electric railway will be constructed. We must have our eyes open and ready by influence to aid the good work.

CENSUS.
 The 1900 census report gives Mt. Sterling a population of 3,561 and the people are not satisfied. Last year our City Assessor reported a population as we remember about 4,000, and if this be correct it is evident that the report of 1900 is not correct and if not then it should be taken again. This is due to our interests for we are rated in business according to our population. We should want no more than we are entitled to but we should demand our rights. It is true Mt. Sterling has a larger population than can be reported for our outskirts are populated with at least 1,500 people to say nothing of Smithville and Turleyville, where there is a population aggregating at least 2,500. These cannot be reported, but within our limits there is most certainly a glaring inaccuracy.

WHERE TENDING?
 Not long ago a campaign waged in Kentucky: a man was a candidate for a high position whose morals, according to his own confession, were bad. The character of a woman had been sullied. She had been ruined and a representative partisan was party to the crime. Women rose in their just resentment and righteous indignation, they pleaded with their husbands, and the brilliant in word and thought went down in defeat before their powerful influence, and it was right. A few fleeting years and this despoiler of character, called out by the Republican party, is on the stage. It is the same man, and if reports be true, the same unregenerate man. The canvass has another picture now. Women by the hundreds sit at his feet, drink in his beautiful language and enquire every well rounded thought to the echo; it was from mothers, daughters and sisters. Whither are we tending?

WHO WILL THEY BE?
 Well, it is almost a year off, but our people are beginning to be anxious about the make-up of our county tickets for 1901. That this state of unrest may be quieted we would urge those individuals with bees buzzing about their bonnets and who are in the hands of their friends to come forth. There are candidates. They are unannounced and these persons are getting a great advantage of the persons who are waiting like the young widow for a respectable time.

STARTLING.
 A startling sensation will be sprung when the ballot book thieves are arrested. Just so, but when will that be? Some one took the books and some one deserves punishment. Let no guilty man escape.
 There are rumors to the effect that some one or ones stole two ballot books on the day and evening of November 5, and also that guilty persons are suspected. It is only a rumor. No arrests.

A BELGIAN PIGEON.
 Follows an English Locomotive On All Its Trips.
 "The Guillemins pigeon" is a noted character in Belgium.
 Nearly every day since the beginning of February this bird has started from the Guillemins station, in Liege, with the fast Brussels express and accompanied the train for from 12 to 25 miles.
 The people living along the line know and look out for him, and the start arouses great interest among passengers, railway men and others, who come to the station just to see him off.
 He is seen flying about for half an hour before the train starts, and as soon as it is made up he takes his station on a semaphore near the engine. When the whistle sounds he flies to the next semaphore, where the train halts to take a second engine for an upgrade.
 When the train finally starts the pigeon leaves his post and hovers over the locomotive, keeping as far as possible in the dense smoke and steam that pour from the smokestack.
 The train makes no stops and travels 50 miles an hour, but the bird always keeps up with it, flying under bridges and viaducts, where he smoke must be stifling.
 After abandoning the train he returns to the station, keeping as before near the track and flying under bridges.
 The bird was reared in a dovecote on the embankment, and when this was removed he took up his quarters in the station, becoming so tame that he dined in the restaurant.
 Wind, rain and snow have never deterred him from taking his daily excursion.
 On two or three days, however, he remained at the station, and it is a singular fact, that, on these occasions the train was not drawn by its usual English locomotive. Quite recently he has been observed occasionally to follow an afternoon train, which also has an English locomotive.
 These English locomotives use a special fuel, made up into bricks, which contains a large amount of pitch, and they are the only ones on the line that do so. It would seem, therefore, that the odor of the smoke is what attracts this erratic bird.—Philadelphia Press.

OFFENSIVE AND DEFENSIVE.
 Cyclists' Novel Method of Escaping from a Lion.
 The novel method adopted by an English bicyclist in Africa, Rev. A. B. Lloyd, to escape from a lion, is thus narrated:
 One morning Mr. Lloyd started on his wheel for a village a few miles from the mission station. He took the main road to Uganda, which was a good thoroughfare about five feet wide. After climbing a long hill he came to the descent on the other side, a long, gentle slope, where he knew the road was smooth.
 Up went his feet on the coasters, and away he flew down the hill, going faster every minute. Near the bottom of the hill was a turn. On approaching this, he again put his feet to the pedals.
 As he rounded the curve a terrible sight burst upon him. In the middle of the narrow path lay a full-grown lion, its head down upon its paws, facing up the hill.
 Mr. Lloyd could not stop, or if he did stop, it would be in the very jaws of the king of the forest. To the left was a wall of rock 20 feet high, and to the right a steep embankment with a river a hundred feet below. Escape seemed impossible.
 Suddenly he remembered that the wild men he had met were always afraid of his bicycle. Perhaps a wild beast might be affected in the same way. Therefore, he did the only thing he could do. Releasing his check on the wheel, ringing his bell, and shouting with all the power of his lungs, he forced the bicycle at its best speed directly toward the couchant lion.

The lion raised his head. Then, seeing this unearthly creature, with so strange a voice, rushing fearlessly upon it, it gave a blood-curdling yelp, and sprang to one side just as the rider flew past.
 Suddenly he remembered that the wild men he had met were always afraid of his bicycle. Perhaps a wild beast might be affected in the same way. Therefore, he did the only thing he could do. Releasing his check on the wheel, ringing his bell, and shouting with all the power of his lungs, he forced the bicycle at its best speed directly toward the couchant lion.

Getting Thin

is all right, if you are too fat; and all wrong, if you are too thin. Fat, enough for your habit, is healthy; a little more, or less, is great harm. Too fat, consult a doctor; too thin, persistently so, no matter what cause, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil.

There are many causes of getting too thin; they all come under these two heads: over-work and under-digestion.

Stop over-work, if you can; but, whether you can or not, take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, to balance yourself with your work. You can't live on it—true—but, by it, you can. There's a limit, however; you'll pay for it.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the readiest cure for "can't eat," unless it comes of your doing no work—your can't long be well and strong, without some sort of activity.

GRATITUDE.

ALBION, N. Y.,
November 7, 1900.

AN AFTERNOON STROLL.

On a pleasant afternoon, I gathered my list and started soon, to find some lonely sort of a place, that I might there consider my case.

So when I started I looked around, and found myself in a western town. Friendly, moneyless, by the way. So Kentucky was my thoughts all the day.

And on I went listening to a tune, played by the devils in a dirty saloon; There was one on the left and one on the right, Killing the people with all of their might. Such was the case of that gloomy day. When pleasure to my life I had gone away; Then I prayed in silence, in the midst of the gloom, That the Lord would remove such, very soon.

As I journeyed, looking around, the beautiful trees and the glowing town, In the distance by the side of a gate, I saw where the lonely might meditate. Then, while lonely, quiet and still, I thought of the time when I was still; When when consumption was in my breast; Dear people of my country, know the rest.

As poor, I was sick, and in distress, seeking pleasure, but looking for rest; There came a time, I know who to blame, As to my rescue, a man Chas. Leonard by name.

He begged of the people, their money to give, To help a poor creature like me to live; They generously gave him some money, and then with a go. They sent me ashore to New Mexico. My dear friends, I thank you, with all my heart, For all of the money that you did impart. And wish I was blessed in some sort of way, But your kindness might some day repay.

KAFFIR FAIRY STORIES.

Example of the Kind Heard in South Africa.

Here is a Kaffir fairy story. It is called "Demane and Demanza," and is a very good example of the kind of story current among the dusky "boys" of South Africa:

Demane and Demanza are husband and wife, living together in a cave. Demane one day goes out to hunt, but tells his wife before starting that on no account must she cook any food during his absence, lest the cannibals, attracted by the smell of the cooking, find out the cave and carry her off and eat her.

Demanza, directly her lord has gone, commences to prepare a meal, with the result that one of the cannibals knocks at the "door" of the cave and demands admission. This is refused him. So the cannibal goes and consults with his tribesmen, and they burn his throat, which changes his voice to a very smooth tone like that of a girl. He returns to the cave, and in this time admitted. The cannibal at once tells Demanza up in a sack he has brought with him, and takes her away to his own habitation. Demane, returning home with a swarm of bees he has found, discovers his wife's abduction. Forthwith he tracks the cannibal to his lair. The latter has left Demanza tied up in a sack while he goes to fetch some relations to share in the feast that is to follow. So Demane releases his wife and substitutes in the sack the swarm of bees, and the husband and wife, at once make themselves scarce. The would-be feasters arrive, and the cannibal tells one of them to get something, good out of the sack.

He attempts this, but is stung for his pains, so mine host himself, to disprove the charge of practical joking that has been unanimously preferred, goes to the sack, and opening which all the bees swarm out and sting him so unmercifully that he rushes from the cave and jumps into a pond head first and sticks in the mud at the bottom. Thus he dies, and Demane and Demanza appropriate all his wealth, and live happy ever after.

There are plenty of other "fairy tales" equally strange, and mostly all of them treat of the fruit of disobedience, virtue is its own reward, and like matters, but they have no story emblematic of our well-known proverb: "Honesty is the best policy."

FORAIN'S BIG SCHEME.

Plan for Utilizing Heat of the Earth for Fuel.

"A distinguished scientist has seriously suggested the sinking of boilers deep enough to use the heat of the earth as fuel," said a prominent engineer of this city. "The sounder, rather fantastic, in view of the fact that a depth of 12,000 feet would be necessary to boil water, but a scheme of the same sort was urged with great energy back in the sixties by a Washington inventor named Forain. If my memory is correct, Forain was a man of considerable means and a mathematician of ability. The internal heat of the earth is supposed to equal about one degree to the 100 feet of penetration, but he claimed to have discovered that the percentage was very much greater and increased in compound ratio after a certain depth was reached. He figured out an elaborate table and proposed to sink a huge shaft with accumulators at the bottom, from which unlimited steam would be supplied to the surface. All that was needed was a few million dollars capital to pay for the digging and the plant, and he immediately set to work to raise the amount. It is a striking commentary upon the short memory of the reading public that this singular enterprise, which attracted so much attention at the time and was the subject of almost unlimited newspaper notoriety, should now be practically forgotten. Forain succeeded in interesting a number of people of wealth and formed a joint stock company, but meanwhile his calculations were assailed by scientists and it was shown pretty clearly that the figures were incorrect. He replied with great bitterness, and the consequence was that his scheme went to pieces in the bitterness of controversy. What became of Forain I don't know. If the problem is ever actually solved, I suppose he will be dashed out of the limbo of cranks and visionaries to take his proper place in history."—N. O. Times-Democrat.

Mr. Leach has from childhood resided in this city, and during the time has been identified in a clerical position with our most reliable, energetic young man, and we bespeak for him a bright future. He is to be congratulated for the privilege he has won to walk with him down the path of life is indeed a rare, imbued with many talents, lovable and gentle-hearted, and will make the man of her choice happy that he chose her for his helpmate. Patsy Pickrell, whose life was displaced last week, having a violent attack of diphtheria, we regret to say is now out of danger. A specialist was wired for last week but before he could reach here Drs. R. Q. Drake and W. R. Thompson had the disease under control, and it was joy to the anxious ones to hear the specialist say without unforeseen complications she would recover.

Resigned.

For 18 years H. R. French was a member of the Board of Trustees of the Mt. Sterling Public Graded School and filled the position acceptably and efficiently. He was also Secretary and Treasurer. At the last meeting of the Board W. H. Strossman, Jr. was elected his successor as Secretary and Treasurer. The vacancy in the Board has not been filled. The position is a very responsible and important one, and much care should be exercised in filling it.

Goebel Monument Fund.

The Committee on the Goebel Monument Fund, consisting of Hon. Jas. R. McCreary, Mr. Sam J. Shackelford and Gen. David E. Murray, met in Frankfort to arrange for the payment of some small expense account. The Monument Fund now in the hands of Gov. McCreary amounts to about $9,000. This does not include the fund collected by the women of the State of which Mrs. C. C. McChord is custodian.

The remains of a man buried at Elizabethtown, Tenn., seven years ago, were found to be petrified.

Sale of Stock.

On last Saturday Mr. Earl W. Sent, receiver of Fred W. Bassett in Bankruptcy, sold privately the entire stock for $1200 cash to J. Clay Cooper. Mr. Cooper at once employed the force formerly with Mr. Bassett, immediately the store was opened. Such stock as was short has been added to with fresh, desirable goods, and business is on a hum at corner of Main & Maysville streets. Mr. Cooper is an enterprising young man, determined to succeed, and to this end the trade may depend on getting from him just what the demands require. Mr. Cooper speaking of this business said, I know the time is at hand, when a man in order to succeed must buy for cash, use his best judgment and likewise sell for the cash, and that his stock must embrace those goods which are needed by the people; not a part, but all of them. Mr. Clarence Leach will be found at the counter anxious to wait on the trade, and only obliging salesmen who know their business, will be employed.

To Whom It May Concern.

I take pleasure in saying to my patients and friends that Drs. H. G. Kellogg and Wilmont Reed are graduates from Kirksville, Mo. Dr. Kellogg is an older graduate than myself. Both of them have had considerable experience and stand high in the profession, and are moral, upright gentlemen. Owing to my heavy practice in Lexington I turn the work over to them in Mt. Sterling. They will be here all the time. I am sure they will give satisfaction. I hope all my patients and friends will give them their hearty support.

ATLANTA DAILY CONSTITUTION

Now Running a Special Campaign
Offer, Only $1.00.

The Constitution, of Atlanta, Ga., is now offering its Daily and Sunday editions complete to new subscribers from the date the order reaches that office until November 10th for only $1.00. This last campaign offer will take the subscribers beyond and give him the full news of the presidential election. The period thus covered will be of unusual interest, not only because of the election and the questions pending thereon, but it will be full of events, and guesses at the truth of reported events in China. The struggle is on between the "yellow terrors" and the "foreign devils" and it will continue the world's attention for many months to come. It is probable that South Africa will become peaceful on a basis that will allow the spunky Boers to lay down their arms with honor. Cuba and the Philippines are with us and until their status is determined their question will continue to be ours. The Constitution always covers all the news completely and this exceptional offer will doubtless test there full capacity in supplying the paper to thousands of thirsty subscribers. The subscriber who sends for it the longer you will get it for your dollar. 47
